Hey Alison,

We are currently in the process of launching a Spanish label pilot program. I am in the middle of setting up a conference calls with stakeholders and with states. Once we get a better idea on our timing I will fill you in. Right now the gist of the program is we are hoping to translate certain sections of the label, not the whole thing.

Next week looks pretty free for me so I will try to pop down to the 4th floor for lunch some time.

Sincerely,
Christina

Hi Christina,

It was great to see you at lunch yesterday! Unfortunately we didn't get to talk much, but Stephen mentioned that you were working on reviewing Spanish language labels, or something along those lines. That sounds really interesting, and if you wouldn't mind, I'd be really interested to hear more about what you're doing. Maybe we could chat at lunch sometime in the next couple of weeks? I'm usually on the 4th floor around 12:15 either outside or in that room we had lunch in before. Let me know if you have time!

Best,
Alison
